1. Preface

1.1. Objectives of the Study

- Which documented offerings provide the accepted crowd-management functions, and when are focused applications, integrated suites, or adjacent technology platforms commercially comparable for the same buyer task?
- Which buyer qualification, approval, accountability, and benefit-evidence requirements determine whether software is suitable for each accepted End User and Application?
- Which data-access rights, privacy obligations, cybersecurity requirements, and permitted-use conditions must buyers and suppliers verify for each Crowd Data Source and intended jurisdiction?
- What integration capabilities, delivery responsibilities, and support commitments are required for On-Premises, Hosted, and Hybrid deployments across Indoor, Outdoor, and Indoor and Outdoor environments?
- How do interoperability, data portability, contractual restrictions, and continuity requirements affect a buyer's choice to retain, extend, replace, or combine crowd-management software?
- How do Perpetual Licenses and Term Licenses allocate usage rights, renewal exposure, and ongoing obligations, and what must be established before comparing their suitability for a buyer?
- Which commercial rights and responsibilities distinguish Direct Sales from Indirect Sales, and what supplier, reseller, or integration commitments are necessary to make a proposed purchasing route usable?
- What offering-level evidence distinguishes competitive alternatives, complements, and differentiated capabilities, and which jurisdiction-specific access conditions could change a buyer's shortlist or a supplier's participation decision?

1.2. Market Definition

Crowd Management Software comprises software for planning and managing crowd presence, movement, access, communication, and associated operational and commercial decisions in physical spaces, including proposed site or venue designs. The accepted offerings are Crowd Planning and Simulation Software; Crowd Monitoring and Analytics Software; Queue and Arrival Management Software; Capacity and Admission Control Software; Crowd Guidance and Communication Software; Crowd Operations Coordination Software; and Integrated Crowd Management Suites. Both scenario-based planning and software supporting ongoing crowd operations are included.

The geographic boundary is Global. The buyer and user boundary encompasses the full accepted End User hierarchy, including public, commercial, institutional, and membership settings. On-Premises, Hosted, and Hybrid delivery; Perpetual Licenses and Term Licenses;

Direct Sales and Indirect Sales; and Indoor, Outdoor, and Indoor and Outdoor operating contexts are included as distinct classifications of the software relationship.

The study follows software from the provider and its commercial rights through the sales relationship to the buyer's intended application. Scenario inputs, sensing systems, wireless signals, mobile location information, admission records, and human reports are relevant through the accepted Crowd Data Source hierarchy. Standalone hardware, connectivity, physical crowd-control equipment, staffing, advisory work, and the underlying venue or event activity are adjacent inputs or activities rather than additional Software Offering categories. Their involvement does not extend the study to every product or service supplied by the same organization.

1.3. Market Segmentation & Coverage

Software Offering distinguishes the purchased function: Crowd Planning and Simulation Software; Crowd Monitoring and Analytics Software; Queue and Arrival Management Software; Capacity and Admission Control Software; Crowd Guidance and Communication Software; Crowd Operations Coordination Software; and Integrated Crowd Management Suites. This axis retains both focused applications and combined software offerings.

Crowd Data Source covers Scenario and Design Inputs; Image and Video Data; Non-Imaging Sensor Data; Wireless Signal Data; Mobile Location Data; Admission and Queue Records; Human-Reported Data; and Multi-Source Data Fusion. It identifies the information dependencies of the studied software, including planning inputs and operational information, without treating underlying hardware or data businesses as additional software offerings.

Application covers Capacity and Space Planning; Crowd Safety and Security; Emergency Preparedness and Response; Flow and Queue Efficiency; Staffing and Resource Optimization; Visitor Guidance and Experience; and Commercial Performance Optimization. This axis identifies the buyer's intended decision or use rather than presuming that each application requires a separate product.

End User covers Transportation and Logistics; Sports and Live Events; Leisure Attractions and Cultural Institutions; Wholesale and Retail Trade; Accommodation and Food Services; Education and Libraries; Healthcare and Social Assistance; Finance and Insurance; Real Estate and Facilities Management; Industrial and Infrastructure Operators; Government and Public Safety; Religious and Membership Organizations; Professional and Business Services; Information and Telecommunications; and Personal Services. The axis places purchasing and use requirements within the accepted sector context.

Deployment Model includes On-Premises, Hosted, and Hybrid. It distinguishes delivery arrangements and the associated allocation of hosting, integration, and service responsibilities.

License Term includes Perpetual Licenses and Term Licenses. It addresses the duration of software rights independently of deployment location or the sales channel.

Sales Channel includes Direct Sales and Indirect Sales. It identifies the route of the commercial relationship and the need to distinguish the publisher's commitments from those of an intermediary.

Operating Environment includes Indoor, Outdoor, and Indoor and Outdoor. It preserves separate indoor, outdoor, and combined environmental coverage without conflating the setting with the deployment model.

Sources & Evidence

1. ISO 22353:2026 - Security and resilience - Guidelines for crowd management

· Taxonomy evidence: The standard published in August 2026 addresses events, mass gatherings and crowded places, including capacity assessment, ingress, circulation, egress and emergency planning. It supports the physical crowd-management boundary, not a software-market classification or evidence of 2025 sales. (iso.org)

· Taxonomy evidence: The abstract identifies organizers, rights holders, hosts, venue operators and emergency services as stakeholders. These are stakeholder roles, not automatically separate buyer sectors or confirmed software customers. (iso.org)

· Taxonomy evidence: The standard distinguishes planned crowd management and emergencies while excluding intervention-oriented crowd control from its own scope. This supports keeping physical crowd objectives distinct from general enforcement services; it does not impose the retained application partition. (iso.org)

2. 2022 NAICS Manual

- Taxonomy evidence: The manual states that ownership generally does not determine industry classification and distinguishes government program administration from operating activities. This supports the buyer-axis operating-activity rule, not crowd-software adoption. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: NAICS distinguishes operating industries from public administration, including publicly operated hospitals and transport facilities. It provides classification references, not crowd-software demand estimates. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Government airport operation is distinguished from transportation-program administration; schools and healthcare operating establishments are also classified outside public administration. Public ownership therefore does not alone place these operators in this buyer category. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Facilities support services and nonresidential property management have explicit classifications. Their combination here is analytical and does not establish a qualifying software purchase. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Property leasing and management are distinguished from retailing. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: The manual distinguishes complete operation of a client's business from facilities support and individual support services. This supports separating professional-service customers from operating clients and independent facilities operators. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Professional, engineering, security, and administrative-service activities are separately identifiable. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Wholesale and retail trade have distinct operating-sector classifications. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Primary production, mining, utilities, construction, and manufacturing have explicit classifications. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Religious and membership organizations have explicit classifications. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Publishing and telecommunications are identifiable information-sector activities. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Repair and personal-service activities have explicit service classifications. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Finance and insurance form a distinct sector. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Museums, historical sites, and amusement or recreation operations are identifiable activities. (census.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Libraries are classified separately from educational services; their combination here is analytical. (census.gov)

3. Traffic Modelling Guidelines v4

   · Taxonomy evidence: The September 2021 guidance distinguishes static pedestrian assessment from dynamic specialist-software modeling and allows their combined use. This supports retaining one planning-and-simulation offering family rather than assuming separate commercial entitlements for each method. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The September 2021 transport guidance distinguishes static pedestrian assessment from dynamic microsimulation using specialist software and describes comparisons of layouts and scenarios. It establishes a planning/modeling software function, not Global software-approval requirements or consultancy revenue. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The Parliament Square case connects street-level space with an underpass through Westminster Underground station. This establishes cross-environment modeling relevance, but not one inseparable commercial license or its software value. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The guidance treats spatial layouts and pedestrian demand as modeling inputs. Its local assessment requirements support the source-family rationale but do not prescribe the analytical precedence between scenario-only and observation-dependent workloads. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The guidance identifies spatial layouts and current or predicted pedestrian volumes as modeling inputs. This supports a design-and-demand input family; the response's scenario-only allocation precedence remains an analytical convention. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The pedestrian-modeling chapter addresses assessment of schemes affecting pedestrian movement, including station environments and surface transport hubs. It supports capacity and layout planning as a distinct demand objective; London's requirements are not treated as Global regulation. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The guidance explicitly covers pedestrian assessment around rail stations and public transport facilities, supporting the passenger-transport portion of the buyer grouping rather than freight or warehousing adoption. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

4. The provision of Microsimulation Traffic Modelling Software - 2025/S 000-069773

   · Taxonomy evidence: The October xx.xx 2025 tender seeks microscopic traffic software that expressly includes pedestrian modeling. Only attributable pedestrian or crowd-software functionality is within this market; the complete mixed traffic procurement is not. (find-tender.service.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The contracting authority is a municipal council seeking software for its own planning work, supporting a public-administration buyer role. The notice is intended procurement, not evidence of a completed award. (find-tender.service.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The requested capability supports infrastructure optimization and future-development planning, providing buyer-side support for the capacity-and-space-planning objective. (find-tender.service.gov.uk)

5. Software Licenses
   - Taxonomy evidence: The purchasing page updated September xx.xx 2026 retains both indefinite-duration and specified-period software licenses and separately describes maintenance products and basic functional support. This refresh supports the duration distinction and software-only boundary, not crowd-specific licensing shares. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The official software-purchasing classification distinguishes perpetual and term licenses and separately includes maintenance and basic support. This establishes a general software duration framework, not crowd-market adoption or shares. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: Perpetual licensing is an expressly identified software-purchasing class. The record does not establish a particular crowd-software agreement or the consequences of maintenance nonrenewal. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: Perpetual licenses are identified as indefinite-duration licenses within the software-purchasing scope. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: Term licensing is expressly distinguished by a specified validity period. Invoice recurrence alone is not the classification criterion supplied by this record. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: Term licenses are identified as licenses valid for a specified period. (gsa.gov)
6. OneGov
   - Taxonomy evidence: The page updated October xx.xx 2026 describes direct manufacturer relationships alongside access through value-added resellers. This confirms that upstream negotiation and the final transaction channel must not be treated as equivalent. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The software-purchasing program describes manufacturer negotiations alongside purchasing through value-added resellers. Analytical implication: upstream negotiation and the final contracting channel must be distinguished. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: Manufacturer engagement is described but can coexist with reseller purchasing. It therefore does not establish publisher-to-customer seller-of-record status for a crowd-software transaction. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: Direct manufacturer relationships are described, but can coexist with reseller transactions; the page does not by itself establish direct publisher-to-customer crowd-software sales. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: Value-added resellers remain an expressly described software-purchasing path. This supports the intermediary concept without establishing crowd-market participation or revenue allocation for a particular reseller. (gsa.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: Value-added resellers are expressly recognized as a purchasing path for software agreements. (gsa.gov)

7. Invitation for Bid - Attleboro Public Schools IP Video Surveillance System
   - Taxonomy evidence: The specification belongs to Attleboro Public Schools and includes people counting within a broader video-surveillance procurement. It supports an education operating context, not attribution of the whole security system to crowd software. (cityofattleboro.us)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The specification describes analytics capabilities accessible in the cloud or on premises. Alternative capabilities and access wording do not establish simultaneous material application execution in both environments. (cityofattleboro.us)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The municipal specification requests analytics-enabled video software with people counting and describes cloud or on-premises capabilities. It establishes procurement alternatives, not a confirmed hybrid crowd-software deployment. (cityofattleboro.us)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The specification assigns work to a successful integrator separately from the manufacturer. This supports intermediary-led procurement relevance, but does not establish an award, qualifying software resale or software-only consideration. (cityofattleboro.us)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The specification distinguishes the manufacturer from a successful integrator supplying the system. This supports an intermediary-led contracting path, while the qualifying crowd-software component and its consideration require separate attribution; no award is established here. (cityofattleboro.us)
8. QtracVR Virtual Queuing System
   - Taxonomy evidence: The technology description distinguishes registration into a virtual physical-service queue from standing in line. Its historical decision date and version-specific decision matrix must not be interpreted as current blanket authorization, active deployment or a completed software purchase. (oit.va.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The government technology record describes software allowing patients to register in virtual queues without standing in line, with staff processing requests across service areas. This directly distinguishes physical virtual queuing from measurement-only queue analytics. (oit.va.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The described application records service registrations, unique call numbers and staff processing of requests. These support a transaction-record input category distinct from sensor-observed queue measurements. (oit.va.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The recorded application maintains service registrations, unique call numbers, queue requests and estimated waits. These are transactional queue-state records rather than observations from cameras or wireless sensors. (oit.va.gov)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The description concerns patient service requests and multiple service areas, supporting the healthcare operating context without establishing software-only revenue or present approval status. (oit.va.gov)

9. Crowd monitoring sensor types

- Taxonomy evidence: The research project's published sensor-family list distinguishes automatic counting, Wi-Fi/Bluetooth, GPS or smartphone location, and RFID sensing. It independently supports recognizable information-source distinctions, not the complete commercial partition or paid adoption. (cityflows-project.eu)
- Taxonomy evidence: The research consortium distinguishes automatic detection, Wi-Fi/Bluetooth sensing, GPS/smartphone location and RFID sensing as crowd-monitoring inputs. This supports recognizable source-family distinctions without prescribing the response's complete allocation rules or establishing commercial readiness. (cityflows-project.eu)
- Taxonomy evidence: Wi-Fi, Bluetooth and RFID sensing are explicitly identified separately from GPS and smartphone location sources. The retained transaction-versus-tracking RFID rule remains an analytical allocation convention. (cityflows-project.eu)
- Taxonomy evidence: Wi-Fi, Bluetooth and RFID are explicitly identified as sensing families for crowd-monitoring research. Their identification does not establish paid deployments or global market shares. (cityflows-project.eu)
- Taxonomy evidence: GPS trackers and smartphone applications supplying location information are an explicit source family, independently supporting separation from venue network-signal sensing. (cityflows-project.eu)

10. Monitor the crowd

- Taxonomy evidence: The page identifies an April xx.xx 2025 update and distinguishes overall numbers, distribution and emerging crowd problems. It supports the monitoring functional rationale, not a requirement to buy software. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: The guidance distinguishes monitoring venue totals, crowd distribution and developing crowd problems. It supports linked counting, occupancy and distribution functions, not a software-sales partition. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: The guidance recognizes staff observations and manual counters as information sources. This supports human-reported inputs but does not establish currently purchased software principally dependent on them. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: Hand counters, field-staff observations and social-media monitoring are recognized crowd-information sources. This establishes the information need, not current paid human-report-led software contracts. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: Thermal counting and people-counting sensors are named, but the page does not resolve whether a particular thermal implementation produces imagery. Ambiguous thermal products therefore require source-provenance evidence rather than automatic assignment. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: People-counting sensors and thermal counting are named monitoring inputs. This source does not establish whether a particular thermal implementation is imaging or non-imaging. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: CCTV cameras and drones are identified as sources of crowd-movement and distribution information. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: Turnstiles and computer-chipped tickets or wristbands are identified as counting-system inputs at entry and exit points. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: HSE identifies crowd-number estimation and crowd-distribution monitoring as inputs to maintaining safe conditions. This establishes the safety decision need, not a requirement to purchase software or proof of supplier revenue. (hse.gov.uk)

11. In-Store Analytics - Pre-Approval Onboarding Guide

- Taxonomy evidence: Customer Queue Insights is a preferred, not mandatory, solution-program question covering queue lengths and waiting times. It establishes official recognition of retail queue functionality, not universal requirements or an awarded customer contract. (preapproval-guide.imda.gov.sg)
- Taxonomy evidence: IMDA's retail solution requirements explicitly include queue-length and waiting-time insights for optimizing checkout processes. This is category-level retail demand evidence, not a disclosed customer award. (preapproval-guide.imda.gov.sg)
- Taxonomy evidence: The preferred queue-insights question explicitly links the information to checkout-process optimization, supporting an efficiency objective distinct from the input technology. (preapproval-guide.imda.gov.sg)
- Taxonomy evidence: The Customer Queue Insights requirement links queue information to checkout-process optimization, supporting an efficiency objective. (preapproval-guide.imda.gov.sg)
- Taxonomy evidence: Staff allocation is separately identified as an intended use of queue-length and waiting-time insights. Its presence supports a distinct resource-allocation objective, not a measured purchase allocation. (preapproval-guide.imda.gov.sg)

(preapproval-guide.imda.gov.sg)

12. Passenger Flow Metrics Project - Commission Agenda Memorandum, April 26, 2022

- Taxonomy evidence: The April xx.xx 2022 authorization request combines software, equipment, vendor services and license maintenance, with software and vendor services grouped together. It does not establish software-only value, a completed deployment or eventual entitlement terms. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: The April 2022 memorandum requests procurement encompassing software licenses and maintenance for passenger-flow measurements, reporting and emerging-issue alerts. It establishes a buyer requirement, not proof of completed installation or software-only expenditure. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: The request identifies possible wireless technology, smartphone location services or roadway cameras, while requiring consolidated measurements. Alternative candidate sources and consolidation do not prove substantive implemented fusion. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: The proposed scope gathers and consolidates flow measurements from new and existing systems. It supports multisource integration as a buyer requirement without establishing the eventual feeds or their algorithmic fusion. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: The proposed measurement paths span roadways and terminal or concourse areas. This supports combined physical coverage as a buyer requirement, not confirmation of one inseparable licensed module. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: Combined roadway and terminal coverage supports the need for an Indoor and Outdoor category. A finalized inseparable software entitlement, completed deployment and software-only value are not established by this authorization request. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: Recurring software-license and maintenance charges are combined. Their recurrence does not establish whether underlying application-use rights are perpetual or expiring. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: Recurring software license and maintenance fees are combined in the request. The underlying application-use expiry is not stated, so recurring expenditure alone cannot establish Term Licenses. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: Cameras are explicitly contemplated as a passenger-flow information source for the proposed licensed system. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: Existing airport wireless technology is explicitly contemplated as a passenger-flow information source. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: Smartphone location services are identified separately from airport wireless infrastructure and cameras among the possible information sources. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: The April xx.xx 2022 Port of Seattle memorandum requests procurement authority for passenger-flow measurement software, equipment, services, and maintenance for airport operations. It identifies airport operating demand, while its combined expenditure cannot be treated wholly as software revenue. (meetings.portseattle.org)
- Taxonomy evidence: Passenger journey-time measurements are linked to Aviation Customer Experience objectives, supporting a visitor-experience application distinct from the underlying measurement technology. (meetings.portseattle.org)

13. Crowd controls inside the venue

- Taxonomy evidence: The guidance separately identifies information for visitors and staff command structures. Visitor-facing communication is therefore a distinct management requirement, although the guidance does not establish a purchased software entitlement. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: The guidance identifies information and directions to visitors as crowd-management responsibilities, independently establishing demand for visitor-facing crowd communication rather than staff coordination alone. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: The control-point responsibilities include sharing crowd information, coordinating staff responses and coordinating external agencies. These support staff-facing crowd coordination as distinct from visitor messaging; they do not make general incident software wholly in scope. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: A central control point is described as coordinating information and responses among crowd-management staff and external bodies. This supports a distinct staff-facing coordination requirement, not proof that all general incident software belongs in the market. (hse.gov.uk)

14. Planning for incidents and emergencies

- Taxonomy evidence: The guidance updated January xx.xx 2026 expressly identifies emergency crowd management, evacuation and incident control. This refresh supports distinguishing emergency-specific objectives from routine crowd safety without treating the guidance as software-adoption evidence. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: HSE distinguishes emergency planning, evacuation, incident control, and emergency-service coordination from normal event operation. These are emergency-specific business requirements; the guidance does not itself establish commercial software adoption. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: The guidance distinguishes event organizers and fixed-premises venue management from emergency services. It supports different operating roles but does not establish their respective software entitlements or expenditure. (hse.gov.uk)
- Taxonomy evidence: The guidance assigns responsibilities to event organizers and fixed-premises venue management and identifies their interfaces with emergency services. This supports an event-operator buyer role distinct from public emergency agencies. (hse.gov.uk)

15. RFP for procurement of Queue Management Solution

- Taxonomy evidence: The bank's procurement scope explicitly seeks Queue Management Software for managing branch crowds, including token issuance and expected waiting information. The procurement combines software with implementation and maintenance, so its full contract value cannot be treated as software revenue. (sbi.bank.in)
- Taxonomy evidence: State Bank of India's March xx.xx 2024 RFP expressly proposes procuring queue-management software to manage crowds at branches. It establishes a financial institution as the intended software customer, not merely a payer or distribution partner. (sbi.bank.in)
- Taxonomy evidence: The RFP identifies a software deliverable for physical branch crowd management, supporting an operational queue application. It is a solicitation, not proof of a completed deployment. (sbi.bank.in)

16. Put crowd controls in place

    - Taxonomy evidence: The guidance treats entry, circulation and dispersal as distinct crowd-control phases and discusses arrangements when arrivals may exceed safe venue capacity. It supports capacity-constrained admission as a distinct management requirement, but does not independently establish a purchased software category or its value. (hse.gov.uk)

17. Crowd watch: DASA funded AI and LiDAR innovation helps enhance crowd safety

    - Taxonomy evidence: The April xx.xx 2024 government publication reports Network Rail's acquisition of LiDAR-based crowd-monitoring technology and describes tracking units, cameras and a software viewer. It substantiates commercially acquired range-sensing-linked crowd software, while leaving software revenue within the mixed system unallocated. (gov.uk)

    - Taxonomy evidence: The acquired system's software viewer provides personnel with crowd updates and analysis, supporting monitoring software as a functional deliverable distinct from the underlying sensing equipment. (gov.uk)

    - Taxonomy evidence: The government describes a commercial crowd-monitoring system sending data to cloud servers for analysis and staff alerts, establishing externally hosted crowd-application functionality. (gov.uk)

    - Taxonomy evidence: Cloud-based analysis and alert generation support a hosted analytics component category. The account does not establish that every system function is hosted or isolate software-only consideration. (gov.uk)

18. Capturing engagement numbers - strand 1 report

    - Taxonomy evidence: The report published March xx.xx 2026 distinguishes mobile-app geolocation from deployable visual and signal sensing. These are research-program source distinctions, not worldwide commercial shares or evidence of 2025 sales. (gov.uk)

(gov.uk)

    - Taxonomy evidence: Wi-Fi and radio-signal sensing are discussed as attendance-information sources but deprioritized for this research program because of deployment and accuracy concerns. The finding is not interpreted as absence of commercial crowd-density software using those sources. (gov.uk)

19. Enhancing crowd monitoring system functionality through data fusion: Estimating flow rate from wi-fi traces and automated counting system data

    - Taxonomy evidence: The peer-reviewed 2020 study combines Wi-Fi traces and automated counting information from a large event to estimate pedestrian flow. It establishes substantive data fusion as distinct from single-source monitoring, not current worldwide software licensing or adoption. (research.tudelft.nl)

    · Taxonomy evidence: The final report for the project completed May xx.xx 2017 describes an integrated platform combining crowd monitoring, simulation, operational visualization, communication and guidance. It establishes a cross-functional system architecture and demonstrations, not a currently sold inseparable software suite. (cordis.europa.eu)

    · Taxonomy evidence: The demonstrated common operational picture connects decision makers, stewards and first responders, supporting crowd-specific coordination functionality distinct from visitor messaging. (cordis.europa.eu)

    · Taxonomy evidence: The spectator application allows users to report incidents into the common operational picture. This supports human reports as a software information source in a demonstration, not proof of a paid predominantly human-report-led license. (cordis.europa.eu)

21. Crowd Control | Omnivex

    · Taxonomy evidence: The supplier's inspected software catalog markets crowd-control communication through occupancy information, congestion-aware directions, wayfinding and emergency messages. This corroborates its own commercially offered guidance functionality, independently aligned with crowd-safety communication requirements; it does not make all digital signage in scope. (omnivex.com)

22. AliudQ - One Platform for Visitor Flow, Communication and Insights

    · Taxonomy evidence: The inspected IAMP product presentation combines crowd functions, digital signage and analytics on a shared data model and offers standalone or combined solutions. It corroborates marketed integration, not contractual inseparability or the response's full market partition. (aliudq.com)

    · Taxonomy evidence: The presentation advertises operational task distribution alongside crowd-flow, capacity and waiting information. This supports marketed coordination functionality within that platform, but does not establish a separately priced crowd-coordination license or completed customer purchase. (aliudq.com)

23. Safety Essentials

    · Taxonomy evidence: The sports-ground guidance describes control-point responsibilities for monitoring spectator numbers, crowd disorder, safety, and incident response. 31. The NIST Definition of Cloud Computing

    · Taxonomy evidence: The standard distinguishes cloud service models from cloud deployment models and states that private cloud infrastructure can exist on or off premises. Analytical implication: cloud terminology alone cannot establish whether a crowd application is locally installed or externally hosted. (nvlpubs.nist.gov)

    · Taxonomy evidence: Its hybrid-cloud definition concerns connected distinct cloud infrastructures; it does not directly verify this taxonomy's broader local-plus-external Hybrid category. (nvlpubs.nist.gov)

32. Acquisition letter MV-2024-01: Guidance on payment for software licenses delivered via SaaS

1.4. Years Considered for the Study

The study designates 2024 as the historical year, 2025 as the base year, 2026 as the estimated year, and 2032 as the terminal forecast year. These roles distinguish historical context, the reference period, estimated-year interpretation, and the forward-looking horizon.

1.5. Currency Considered for the Study

The reporting currency is United States dollars (USD), and monetary values use an absolute-value scale.

1.6. Language Considered for the Study

The publication language is American English.

1.7. Key Stakeholders

- Software publishers and product owners: decisions about functional scope, integrated versus focused offerings, licensing rights, interoperability commitments, and responsibility for delivery through direct or indirect relationships.
- Buyer sponsors and procurement teams across the accepted End User sectors: decisions about qualification, contractual access, benefit evidence, support obligations, and the suitability of purchasing alternatives.
- Venue, event, site, and service-operation managers: decisions about how monitoring, queues, admission, guidance, and coordination software fit assigned responsibilities and operational continuity requirements.
- Planning, transport, design, and crowd-safety professionals: decisions about the commercial suitability of planning and simulation software for evaluating proposed spaces and crowd-management arrangements.

- Information technology, cybersecurity, privacy, and data-governance teams: decisions about deployment approval, system compatibility, access permissions, data responsibilities, portability, and supplier obligations.
- Integrators, resellers, and other channel partners: decisions about authorization to offer software, contractual scope, integration responsibility, customer ownership, and continuing service commitments.
- Sensor, connectivity, and data providers: exposure to the information dependencies of in-scope software and decisions about access rights, continuity, and commercial interfaces without treating their entire businesses as software offerings.
- Public authorities and safety, security, and regulatory bodies: decisions concerning purchasing eligibility, applicable obligations, accountability, and acceptable use within their jurisdictions.
- Visitors, service users, employees, and other affected people: exposure to admission, queueing, guidance, communication, accessibility, and data-use choices embedded in the buyer's software decision.
- Investors and corporate-development teams: decisions about the commercial rights, buyer dependencies, channel relationships, and evidence needed to distinguish an established offering from a proposed capability.

2. Research Methodology

2.1. Introduction

The study frames Crowd Management Software as a set of software functions serving planning, operational, visitor, and commercial decisions in physical environments. Its approach connects each business question to evidence capable of establishing the relevant offering, right, purchasing condition, or service responsibility. Observed commercial facts are distinguished from interpretations about adoption, buyer incentives, switching, and competitive alternatives. The qualitative challenge layer informs these explanations without substituting for independent numerical support.

2.2. Research Design

The research design separates functional classification, commercial participation, buyer qualification, and demonstrated outcomes. An offering must be understood through its documented crowd-management role rather than assigned capabilities solely from its supplier's name, a broad technology label, or an adjacent business activity. Comparisons then require a defined buyer task, operating environment, deployment arrangement, license term, and sales relationship.

Evidence is matched to the proposition it can establish. A product description addresses an advertised function; a contract or buyer record addresses a specified purchasing relationship; and a legal or regulatory record addresses the rights or conditions within its jurisdiction. These roles guide interpretation without treating different kinds of records as interchangeable confirmation.

2.2.1. Primary Research

The analyst team conducted primary research as a qualitative challenge layer for market definition, segmentation, demand conditions, adoption barriers, and competitive interpretation. This work tested analytical assumptions and sharpened explanations of market mechanisms without serving as standalone support for numerical estimates.

The qualitative challenge layer is evaluated alongside secondary evidence within the accepted market scope. It informs conditional market explanations and hypotheses for subsequent quantitative analysis. Numerical estimates require their own supporting evidence, and a forecast derived from a qualitative assumption does not independently validate that assumption. Final interpretation must reconcile the qualitative findings with the completed quantitative results.

2.2.2. Secondary Research

Secondary evidence is assessed according to its authority over the specific business fact. Official portfolios and product materials are relevant to advertised functionality and stated delivery commitments; mandatory filings to disclosed business relationships and financial facts within their stated scope; ownership and licensing records to commercial rights; and public buyer documents to purchasing conditions or defined awards. Legal and regulatory materials address jurisdiction-specific requirements. The effective period, contractual scope, and underlying authority matter more than a document's general relevance to crowd technology.

2.3. Research Framework

The framework links the accepted taxonomy to an offering-level competitive universe, a defined commercial relationship, and the buyer decision under consideration. Functional coverage establishes what is being compared; data dependencies and applications explain its intended role; and the remaining axes locate that role within a purchasing and operating context. Competitive interpretation requires evidence of the relevant offering or business right, while measurement requires a compatible economic boundary. This prevents adjacent technology participation or an expert's affiliation from becoming an unsupported claim of supplier capability.

2.3.1. Qualitative Analysis

Qualitative analysis centers on the buyer's crowd-management decision: what must be planned, monitored, coordinated, or communicated; who acts on the software's output; and which data, organizational, and contractual dependencies affect that action. Planning suitability, operational usability, switching effort, service responsibility, and decision accountability are separate dimensions of comparison. Intended safety, flow, staffing, visitor-experience, or commercial benefits are evaluated as conditional propositions rather than guaranteed consequences of a feature label.

2.3.2. Quantitative Analysis

Quantitative interpretation uses the Global boundary, the designated study-year roles, and absolute monetary values reported in USD. A numerical disclosure requires an identifiable commercial subject and period before it can inform a comparison. Software Offering, Crowd Data Source, Application, End User, Deployment Model, License Term, Sales Channel, and Operating Environment are separate views of the same market, not amounts to be added together. License duration and hosting arrangements describe commercial characteristics; neither alone establishes how a monetary disclosure should be interpreted.

2.4. Market Size Estimation

The measurement subject is in-scope Crowd Management Software across the Global market, not all expenditure associated with managing crowds. Functional inclusion establishes which software activities belong in the study; it does not establish that every module, application, or data-source category has a separately measurable economic contribution. Any monetary interpretation requires evidence that distinguishes the relevant software activity from adjacent hardware, connectivity, professional services, and underlying venue or event operations, without assuming an unstated attribution basis.

2.4.1. Top-Down Approach

The top-down role is to test whether an aggregate disclosure has a boundary compatible with Crowd Management Software. Broader descriptions of surveillance, event technology, ticketing, or facility systems cannot stand in for the accepted software market merely because they contain related functions. Any allocation from a broader disclosure requires independent support for the in-scope activity; thematic similarity does not justify a presumed proportion or establish comparability across the accepted categories.

2.4.2. Bottom-Up Approach

The bottom-up role is to examine whether offering-level business evidence corresponds to the accepted software categories and commercial relationships. Focused applications, integrated suites, and channel-supplied solutions require distinguishable boundaries before they can contribute to an aggregate interpretation. A publisher's portfolio, a reseller's description, and a buyer's contract may describe the same software relationship rather than separate economic activity. Offering-level documentation therefore supports classification and overlap checks without, by itself, establishing a monetary contribution.

2.5. Data Triangulation

Triangulation concerns agreement about the same offering, geography, period, and commercial relationship. A portfolio description, a partner announcement, and a buyer award address different propositions and should corroborate only the facts their scopes overlap. Multiple publications derived from one underlying statement do not create independent confirmation. Where commercial records differ, the relevant authority and effective scope govern interpretation; unresolved differences must remain attached to the affected conclusion rather than being concealed by apparent agreement.

2.6. Research Outcomes

The study is intended to support software portfolio positioning, buyer shortlisting, procurement diligence, licensing comparisons, and channel evaluation within Crowd Management Software. Decision support should identify the function being purchased, the relevant buyer and operating context, the commercial rights and responsibilities involved, and the conditions that could change a conclusion. Product availability, contractual access, and demonstrated buyer outcomes remain distinct questions; evidence supporting one should not be presented as proof of the others.

2.7. Research Assumptions

- Functional comparability requires a matched buyer task. Crowd Planning and Simulation Software, Crowd Monitoring and Analytics Software, and Integrated Crowd Management Suites are not assumed to be substitutes merely because all participate in the study.
- Data-dependent adoption is conditional on the buyer and supplier having appropriate access and use rights for the intended setting. Inclusion of a Crowd Data Source category does not establish those rights for a particular offering or jurisdiction.
- A single suite or contract may support several software functions and applications. Classification across the accepted axes does not imply separate purchases or independently attributable economic activity.

- Deployment Model and License Term are independent classifications. Hosted delivery is not assigned to Term Licenses solely because of hosting, and On-Premises delivery is not assigned to Perpetual Licenses without contractual support.
- Forward-looking interpretation is conditional on the commercial access, data permissions, integration responsibilities, and buyer requirements relevant to the proposed offering. Continuation of these conditions is a proposition to assess, not an assured outcome.

2.8. Research Limitations

- Broad descriptions of video analytics, ticketing, facilities software, or integrated suites do not by themselves isolate the crowd-management function. Like-for-like comparison requires offering-level scope rather than treating an entire adjacent business as equivalent.
- A data-source label does not establish compatibility with a buyer's systems, permission to reuse the information, or suitability across every operating environment. These conditions require verification for the proposed deployment before procurement.
- Software functionality alone does not demonstrate improved crowd safety, queue performance, staffing efficiency, visitor experience, or commercial outcomes. Such conclusions require evidence relevant to the buyer's setting, responsibilities, and intended use.
- Global scope does not establish local commercial availability, procurement eligibility, regulatory acceptance, or enforceable support commitments. Market-access conclusions must remain specific to the proposed supplier-buyer relationship and jurisdiction.

3. Executive Summary

3.1. Introduction

The Global Crowd Management Software market serves distinct decisions about physical spaces rather than a single interchangeable dashboard requirement. Bentley Systems' LEGION addresses planning before implementation; Qmatic's queue and appointment functions address arrival-to-service coordination. Monitoring, admission, visitor guidance, staff coordination, and Integrated Crowd Management Suites coexist with these offerings but are not automatically substitutes. Buyers should define the operating decision before comparing portfolio breadth.

Information coverage creates a second purchasing boundary. Crowd Connected's app-derived analytics and Connect&GO's admission records observe different activity and populations. Similar displays do not establish equivalent occupancy coverage. A focused application can fit a bounded task, while an integrated purchase is defensible only when its additional functions and delivery responsibilities match the buyer's requirement.

Sources & Evidence

1. LEGION | Bentley Systems
   · Bentley markets LEGION for pedestrian modeling and comparison of design and operating alternatives before implementation, supporting the distinction between planning and ongoing arrival management. (bentley.com)
2. Qmatic | FAQs
   · Qmatic describes queue, appointment, virtual-queuing, messaging, and reporting functions, establishing an arrival-to-service proposition distinct from pedestrian design assessment. (qmatic.com)
3. Location Analytics and Footfall Counting | Heatmaps, Dwell Time, and Flow Analysis
   · Crowd Connected describes location analytics operating through the customer's mobile app. That channel does not independently establish observation of every visitor. (crowdconnected.com)
4. Smart Access Control | Connect&GO
   · Connect&GO distinguishes scans, unique tickets scanned, admissions, ticket types, and access points in its reporting. Admission activity therefore has a defined transaction boundary rather than established equivalence with unrestricted occupancy observation. (connectngo.com)

3.2. CXO Perspective

Capital owners should fund an accountable operating change, not software access alone. The Port of Seattle's 2021 virtual-queue proposal linked operational and technology sponsorship with implementation and recurring responsibilities; Qmatic Concierge illustrates an arrival service that still involves reception staff. Management must retain authority over receiving-service resources, while technology leaders secure interfaces, licensed functions, and acceptance. Where EU deployments process identifiable video, information-governance owners must establish the intended lawful use before commitment.

Incumbents can compete by extending an established relationship, but Milestone Systems' BriefCam licensing makes the required live-response entitlement an explicit purchasing condition. Entrants face a different gate: State Bank of India's 2024 clarification retained bidder-specific queue-management experience despite a proposed partner-based argument. Suppliers should verify the actual contracting bidder's eligibility before committing bid resources; the historical requirement is not a universal banking rule. A narrower core application limits scope, but leaves required services and interfaces to be separately funded and assigned.

Sources & Evidence

1. Port of Seattle Commission Agenda Memorandum: Spot Saver Virtual Queue Program
   · The Port's September 2021 virtual-queue memorandum identifies Airport Operations and Technology Delivery sponsorship, requests implementation authorization, and assigns recurring software, service, and maintenance responsibilities. It establishes historical purchasing arrangements, not later outcomes. (meetings.portseattle.org)
2. Guidelines 3/2019 on Processing of Personal Data Through Video Devices
   · EDPB guidance requires specified purposes and a lawful basis for personal-video processing and distinguishes information that cannot identify a person. It supports resolving processing authority rather than relying on technical access. (edpb.europa.eu)
3. Responses to Pre-Bid Queries - RFP No. SBI/CC/RNWM/QMS/2024-25/001
   · State Bank of India's 2024 pre-bid clarification retained bidder-specific queue-management experience requirements despite requests to rely on a software partner. This is a procurement-specific condition, not a universal banking rule. (sbi.co.in)
4. BriefCam Frequently Asked Questions
   · BriefCam's FAQ distinguishes product variants and separately expandable real-time response entitlements. An existing platform relationship does not itself establish the live functions included in an order. (milestonesys.com)
5. Queue management | Concierge
   · Qmatic Concierge supports front-line staff handling walk-ins, appointment check-in, queue status, and service rescheduling. The offering retains reception participation rather than establishing additional receiving-service capacity. (qmatic.com)

3.3. New Revenue Opportunities

Conditionally actionable revenue themes are planning access while design choices remain open; institutional queue modernization with a supported transition; airport flow information matched to a bounded measurement or wider operating need; library reservation and attendance management; venue staff coordination; and app-derived journey analytics compatible with the participating population. These routes serve different sponsors rather than a common bundle. Access depends on the relevant buyer's authority, required rights, qualification, and delivery commitment. Supported incumbent upgrades and effective existing workflows remain alternatives to replacement or another application. The Opportunity Mapping section provides the detailed assessment.

Sources & Evidence

1. LEGION | Bentley Systems
   · LEGION's pre-implementation planning proposition supports a conditional opportunity while consequential design choices remain open; the product description does not establish a particular buyer's decision value. (bentley.com)
2. Daily Operations - Halo Solutions
   · Halo markets shared incident management, task scheduling, cross-team transfers, and oversight for venue and facilities teams. These establish a staff-coordination proposition distinct from independent crowd measurement. (halosolutions.com)
3. Location Analytics and Footfall Counting | Heatmaps, Dwell Time, and Flow Analysis
   · The app-derived offering includes heatmaps, dwell, flow, and engagement reporting, grounding a journey-analysis opportunity conditional on compatibility with the represented population. (crowdconnected.com)
4. Passenger Flow Metrics Project - Port of Seattle Commission Agenda Memorandum, April 26, 2022
   · Seattle's April 2022 appraisal preferred consolidating new and existing passenger-flow information over more extensive tracking, while acknowledging reduced movement detail. This was a purchasing proposal, not evidence of completed implementation. (meetings.portseattle.org)
5. Responses to Pre-Bid Queries - RFP No. SBI/CC/RNWM/QMS/2024-25/001
   · The bank's clarification establishes that partner capability did not automatically satisfy the contracting bidder's qualification condition in that procurement, grounding conditional access to the institutional queue opportunity. (sbi.co.in)
6. Airport Operations Software | Intelligent Airport Platform | Veovo
   · Veovo combines flow, queue, forecasting, and resource functions within its airport platform, supporting a wider operating-context option distinct from a bounded information purchase. (veovo.com)
7. Crowd Connected Standard Terms and Conditions, Version 4.0, April 2026
   · Crowd Connected's standard terms impose prior-written-consent conditions for specified surveillance and critical-national-infrastructure uses. The app-derived opportunity is consequently subject to the applicable commercial use rights, not merely functionality. (crowdconnected.com)
8. Réserver des espaces - BU
   · Lyon xx.xx's library directs visitors to Affluences reservations and separately requires attendance confirmation. This buyer-origin workflow supports a library reservation-and-attendance opportunity without establishing complete occupancy observation. (bu.univ-lyon3.fr)
9. Terms of Service - Halo Solutions
   · Halo's terms tie access to purchased user subscriptions and authorized users for internal business operations. Participation rights therefore remain a prerequisite to the assessed coordination route. (halosolutions.com)
10. Queue management | Concierge
    · Concierge's staff-assisted arrival functions substantiate a scoped institutional queue-modernization proposition, subject to the buyer's approved service journey and operating resources. (qmatic.com)
11. End of Life Announcement for Qmatic Orchestra 6
    · The Orchestra xx.xx notice recommends planning an Orchestra xx.xx upgrade, establishing a supported-incumbent alternative within a conditional modernization opportunity rather than an automatic replacement purchase. (qmatic.com)

3.4. Next-Generation Business Models

The assessed delivery models vary in the responsibilities transferred to the supplier. Qmatic advertises Experience Cloud as SaaS and Orchestra as On-Premises software, while Xovis AERO combines passenger-flow software and sensors with implementation, training, and support. Advertised options should not be confused with completed customer migration or accepted service levels. Buyers should compare hosting and managed-delivery commitments separately from application rights; transferring work can simplify coordination without removing the institution's operating responsibilities.

Channels offer another conditional route. Qmatic's August 2026 Corvice AG announcement identifies a Swiss delivery and support relationship, not a completed customer installation. Where Qmatic's distributor terms govern, the reseller relationship remains separate from publisher obligations, and specified unresolved distributor defaults can affect continuity. Local assistance is commercially useful only when implementation, escalation, and continuity commitments are aligned; buyer-coordinated delivery remains an alternative when internal capability is sufficient.

Sources & Evidence

1. Qmatic | FAQs
   · Qmatic identifies Experience Cloud as multi-tenant SaaS and Orchestra as a modular On-Premises platform. These are advertised delivery alternatives, not proof of a customer's completed migration. (qmatic.com)
2. Qmatic Welcomes Corvice AG as New Premier Solution Partner in Switzerland
   · Qmatic's August xx.xx 2026 announcement identifies Corvice AG as a Swiss partner providing local delivery, expertise, and support. It announces a channel relationship rather than a completed customer installation. (qmatic.com)
3. General Terms and Conditions of Sale and Delivery - Version August 2026
   · Qmatic's August 2026 terms distinguish the reseller agreement from publisher obligations, deny reseller authority to incur obligations for Qmatic, and permit service or license termination following specified uncured distributor defaults. Applicability depends on the governing customer framework. (qmatic.com)
4. Airport software | Xovis
   · Xovis markets AERO as a managed airport passenger-flow offering combining sensors and software with implementation, training, and ongoing support. These advertised inclusions do not establish a customer's accepted service level. (xovis.com)

3.5. Industry Roadmap

In 2026-2027, distinguish retirement of a use case from retirement of support. SEA Spot Saver is scheduled to end November xx.xx 2026 following improved checkpoint arrangements. Separately, Qmatic schedules Orchestra xx.xx support cessation for July xx.xx 2027 and Qmatic Show support and security-patch cessation for October xx.xx 2027; Show may continue running. Affected institutions should reassess continuing need and agree upgrade or replacement acceptance before the applicable support deadline.

Regulatory milestones shape specifications, not a mandate for named software. Covered U.S. state and local-government interfaces face April xx.xx 2027 or April xx.xx 2028 accessibility dates according to entity classification. UK guidance anticipates Martyn's Law commencement in spring 2027, with the exact date unconfirmed. Suppliers should establish the buyer's applicable duties before treating preparation as funded demand.

For 2028-2029, extension should follow accepted delivery, continuing obligations, and a defined additional operating need. For 2030-2032, integrated and modular supply remain conditional alternatives: wider airport platforms such as Veovo require coordinated authority, while BriefCam's function-specific entitlements preserve a modular purchasing boundary. Covered EU services' Data Act export and switching requirements strengthen scrutiny of exit arrangements without guaranteeing a functionally equivalent replacement. Buyers should retain a bounded deployment when added rights, interfaces, or operating responsibility remain unsettled.

Sources & Evidence

1. SEA Spot Saver | SEA Airport
   · SEA announces that Spot Saver will no longer be available beginning November xx.xx 2026 and connects reduced use with improved checkpoint arrangements. This is a scheduled service retirement, not a completed closure or category-wide outcome. (portseattle.org)
2. Understanding Martyn's Law and the SIA's Role as Regulator
   · SIA guidance anticipates Martyn's Law commencement in spring 2027, with the exact date to be confirmed. Responsibility remains with the responsible organization, and the SIA and Home Office do not endorse particular compliance companies or services. (gov.uk)
3. End of Life Announcement: Qmatic Show

Covered vendor-provided interfaces remain relevant, and conformance continues after the applicable date. (ada.gov)
5. Data Act explained
   · The Data Act's covered data-processing-service provisions address contractual switching, open interfaces, and customer-generated data export, with protected-information exclusions. These support scrutiny of exit arrangements without establishing equivalent crowd-application functions. (digital-strategy.ec.europa.eu)
6. BriefCam Frequently Asked Questions
   · Variant-specific licensing and expandable response, user, and camera-channel rights provide a documented modular purchasing boundary. They support a conditional alternative to assuming portfolio-wide suite access. (milestonesys.com)
7. Airport Operations Software | Intelligent Airport Platform | Veovo
   · The airport platform's connected information and operating functions ground an integrated-supply option. The requirement for coordinated authority is a conditional commercial inference, not demonstrated future adoption. (veovo.com)

8. End of Life Announcement for Qmatic Orchestra 6

· Qmatic's June xx.xx 2026 notice schedules Orchestra xx.xx support, updates, maintenance releases, and bug fixes to end July xx.xx 2027. The notice is version-specific. (qmatic.com)

4.2. Key Growth Contribution

Connecting visitor arrivals with an institution's service decisions provides a concrete adoption mechanism for Crowd Management Software. Qmatic Concierge supplies staff-assisted arrival functions, while Seattle's historical virtual-queue procurement illustrates the operational and technology sponsorship needed to fund a connected service. Suppliers need both a contractible arrival-management offering and the ability to allocate interfaces and support. The constraint is that organizing arrivals does not create service capacity: adoption is more defensible where the buyer can change the receiving operation, rather than relying on software alone to remove a staffing or physical-space bottleneck.

86. Zoho Backstage - Terms of Use

· Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Zoho's terms identify the publisher-provided service and distinguish third-party services and device obligations. They support a publisher-contracting route and software-only scope for qualifying physical-event functions, not the assumed venue-channel percentage.

· Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: The announced integration connects in-store analytics with outside-store mobile intelligence, initially in the United States, with UK coverage planned for early 2027. 4.3. Industry Ecosystem & Value Chain Analysis

Value creation depends on connecting usable information to a licensed software function and an authorized operational decision. Crowd Connected's platform describes mapping integrations, APIs, exports, and entry-and-exit event feeds. ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■

Value capture can extend beyond the publisher's software contract. ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■ ■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ Neither route automatically establishes better economics, local support, or responsibility for the complete outcome.

4.3.1. Supply-Side Analysis

Suppliers package delivery and software rights in different ways. Qmatic describes Experience Cloud as a multi-tenant SaaS platform and Orchestra as an on-premises platform; Bentley advertises LEGION through a term subscription. ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■

Commercial evaluation therefore needs an accountable operational sponsor and agreement from the owners of connected systems. Traveler convenience alone does not settle procurement eligibility, implementation responsibility, or renewal value.

Sources & Evidence

   · Lambeth's August 2019 Customer Services quotation request sought an online visitor queue system with appointments, communications, reporting, and integrations. (contractsfinder.service.gov.uk)
2. Port of Seattle Commission Agenda Memorandum: Spot Saver Virtual Queue Program

It describes a public-authority initiative, not a passenger software purchase. (meetings.portseattle.org)

4.3.3. Stakeholder Analysis

Operational users, management sponsors, and system owners hold different forms of authority. [redacted] A shared dashboard can support coordination, but it does not itself resolve conflicting instructions or transfer managerial accountability.

People whose information is processed are also commercially relevant stakeholders. EDPB video guidance distinguishes identifiable personal information from information that cannot be related to a person. [redacted]

4.4. Market Dynamics

[redacted] Such combinations can make crowd information useful across teams, provided the buyer assigns authority to respond and funds the associated service responsibilities. A combined interface does not by itself establish that every function is needed, independently purchased, or effective in the buyer's setting.

Renewal depends on the continuing role of the application. The Port of Seattle has announced that SEA Spot Saver will cease to be available on November xx.xx 2026. [redacted]

Sources & Evidence

1. Daily Operations - Halo Solutions
   · The offering combines incident management, task coordination, and reporting. The commercial implication that usefulness requires assigned response authority is conditional analysis rather than a demonstrated customer outcome. (halosolutions.com)
2. SEA Spot Saver | SEA Airport

4.4.1. Key Drivers

4.4.1.1. Consequential layout decisions create a planning-software purchase trigger

LEGION's advertised ability to compare pedestrian scenarios before implementation connects software demand to layout and operating-plan decisions. [redacted] Relevance depends on an active project, usable planning inputs, and a buyer able to act on the analysis; a completed design may offer less decision value.

Sources & Evidence

1. LEGION | Bentley Systems
   · LEGION's advertised scenario-comparison functions support the conditional relevance of planning software before a layout or operating-plan commitment; the page does not establish a buyer outcome. (bentley.com)

4.4.1.2. Arrival management becomes more valuable when linked to service delivery

[redacted] A buyer can justify evaluation when unmanaged arrivals disrupt service delivery, but software cannot resolve insufficient service capacity by itself. Procurement should link arrival rules to the department responsible for staffing and service completion.

Sources & Evidence

1. Qmatic | FAQs
   · The published combination of appointments, queues, and reporting supports an arrival-to-service coordination proposition, not proof that software creates service capacity. (qmatic.com)

4.4.1.3. Existing technology relationships can facilitate analytics adoption

[illegible] This provides a concrete example of crowd analytics being added through an established technology relationship. Similar adoption is conditional on compatible infrastructure, access rights, and support arrangements; the example does not establish plug-and-play suitability for other venues.

4.4.2. Key Restraints

4.4.2.1. Data permissions can prevent an otherwise compatible deployment

European Data Protection Board guidance makes personal-data processing through video devices a substantive purchasing condition. [illegible] Buyers must resolve purpose, identifiability, and applicable responsibilities before committing; genuinely non-personal information presents a different regulatory position.

Sources & Evidence

1. Guidelines 3/2019 on Processing of Personal Data Through Video Devices
   · The guidance identifies a data protection impact assessment requirement for systematic monitoring of publicly accessible areas on a large scale and addresses lawful purposes for video processing. (edpb.europa.eu)

4.4.2.2. Software does not absorb the organizer's wider delivery obligations

Zoho Backstage's terms leave event planning, safety, security, accessibility, capacity, and emergency arrangements with the organizer. This illustrates why software acquisition does not replace the wider obligations necessary to deliver an event. [illegible]

Sources & Evidence

1. Zoho Backstage - Terms of Use
   · Zoho Backstage's terms assign event delivery, staffing, safety, security, accessibility, capacity, and emergency arrangements to the organizer rather than the technology provider. (zoho.com)

4.4.2.3. A useful deployment need not become a permanent requirement

[redacted] The commercial restraint is use-case persistence: a supplier must retain a necessary role within the buyer's changing operation. This example does not establish failure of virtual queuing generally or disclose the renewal economics of other airport contracts.

Sources & Evidence

1. SEA Spot Saver | SEA Airport
   · The announced retirement establishes that this existing queue-management service is not continuing indefinitely; it does not establish failure of the category or other contracts' renewal economics. (portseattle.org)

4.4.3. Key Opportunities

4.4.3.1. Planning decisions with an open change window

Infrastructure sponsors can procure planning capability while a consequential layout decision remains open. [redacted] A bounded professional deliverable is the alternative when continuing internal software use is unnecessary.

Sources & Evidence

1. LEGION | Bentley Systems
   · Bentley markets LEGION for comparing pedestrian designs and operating scenarios before implementation. This supports a conditional opportunity tied to an open planning decision, not a demonstrated project benefit. (bentley.com)

4.4.3.2. Supported transitions for affected institutional installations

Support retirement creates a defined evaluation window for affected queue and signage installations. Qmatic Show illustrates why suppliers can compete on supported migration and continuity rather than added features alone. [redacted]

Sources & Evidence

1. End of Life Announcement: Qmatic Show
   · Qmatic Show's announced support retirement creates a replacement evaluation trigger; continued application operation is expressly possible, and migration can require hardware changes. (qmatic.com)

4.4.3.3. Passenger-flow information with a bounded delivery commitment

Airports can address a funded passenger-flow question through targeted consolidation instead of comprehensive tracking. ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ Capture requires feed rights, integration ownership, and an operating sponsor; additional movement detail may justify a broader alternative in other settings.

Sources & Evidence

1. Passenger Flow Metrics Project - Port of Seattle Commission Agenda Memorandum, April 26, 2022
   · The Port's April 2022 appraisal preferred consolidating existing and new passenger-flow information over more extensive tracking, acknowledging less movement detail and fewer installation dependencies. This was an authorization proposal. (meetings.portseattle.org)

4.4.3.4. Institutional reservations matched to the required information

■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ Lyon xx.xx's Affluences workflow and the supplier's separate platform and hardware offer support a scoped institutional proposition. Counting should be added when observed occupancy is a distinct requirement, with its coverage and responsibilities agreed.

4.4.3.5. Accountable staff coordination beyond an analytics display

■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ The opportunity requires authority to assign work and appropriate participation rights. It is unsuitable as a substitute for missing crowd-measurement coverage or where established coordination arrangements already satisfy the requirement.

Sources & Evidence

1. Daily Operations - Halo Solutions
   · Halo markets shared incident management, task scheduling, cross-team transfers, and oversight for venue and facilities operations. These substantiate a coordination proposition rather than independent crowd measurement. (halosolutions.com)

4.4.4. Key Challenges

4.4.4.1. Information coverage must match the buyer's operational decision

Different data records describe different populations. ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ Procurement must specify the population and decision the software must support; a broader data combination does not automatically resolve omissions or overlapping records.

Sources & Evidence

1. Location Analytics and Footfall Counting | Heatmaps, Dwell Time, and Flow Analysis
   · Crowd Connected describes location analytics generated from users of the buyer's mobile app, supporting a bounded observation population rather than presumed coverage of every visitor. (crowdconnected.com)
2. Event Access Control & Management - We are InSite
   · InSite describes ticket scanning, access control, and capacity-management functions. These establish an admission-related information route, not equivalence with app activity or every form of physical occupancy observation. (weareinsite.com)

4.4.4.2. Monitoring and public guidance require separate delivery commitments

■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ Buyers should contract the required integration and response responsibilities separately rather than assume a dashboard completes the communication chain. The historical account does not establish the venue's later configuration.

4.4.4.3. Procurement evidence can be a barrier beyond product functionality

Lambeth's 2019 quotation request required evidence of comparable projects, a demonstration, security controls, and reporting capability. In that procurement, a product description alone was insufficient to establish suitability. ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■

4.5. Porter’s Five Forces Analysis

Rivalry is task-specific rather than a contest among interchangeable suites. Camera-based crowd intelligence and mobile-app location analytics can address overlapping monitoring questions, but their information coverage differs. ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■

Buyer leverage is strongest where requirements and evaluation conditions are explicit. ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ Such continuity illustrates an established commercial relationship, but does not establish current sole-source dependence or an inability to switch.

Supplier bargaining includes complementary inputs and service reach. WaitTime identifies distribution relationships for supporting hardware and services, while advertising compatibility across technology partners. ■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■

Entrants must establish which unresolved buyer task their product addresses; incumbents cannot assume that an installed application makes its renewal indispensable.

4.6. PESTLE Analysis

Public-safety legislation can create a preparation trigger without mandating a software purchase. The Security Industry Authority's July 2026 guidance anticipates Martyn's Law coming into force in spring 2027, with the exact date to be confirmed. ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪ ▪▪ ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪

The relevant economic question is whether implementation, support, and organizational responsibilities are funded together, not simply whether a license can be acquired.

Accessibility and outdoor conditions affect the purchasing specification. ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪ ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ ▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪▪ An offering demonstrated in a permanent indoor setting should not be assumed commercially suitable for an outdoor event with different support and communications requirements.

Intellectual-property and trade exposure require transaction-specific treatment. 4.7. Market Outlook

[redacted] This favors proposals that identify the decision being changed and the party accountable for delivery. It does not make every advertised application commercially accessible.

4.7.1. Near-Term Market Outlook (0-2 Years)

The 2026-2027 horizon contains specific lifecycle decisions rather than a general replacement mandate. 4.7.2. Medium-Term Market Outlook (3-5 Years)

[illegible] Suppliers should support the contracted visitor interface through changes rather than rely on a one-time general assurance. Extension to additional departments is justified only where their access needs and responsibilities are included.

[illegible] Buyers should extend scope only after agreeing ongoing responsibility, replacement arrangements, and the additional operating need. Otherwise, retaining the accepted footprint or selecting a separately accountable application preserves a credible alternative.

4.7.3. Long-Term Market Outlook (5-10 Years)

[illegible]

[redacted] Veovo's combination of airport information and operating functions makes wider coordination plausible where the operator can govern the connected relationships. BriefCam's separately expandable entitlements demonstrate the counterforce: an established platform relationship still requires the particular live functions and rights needed for expansion.

Multi-site buyers should preserve the ability to revise that choice through explicit application rights, interface ownership, transferable records, and continuity commitments. For covered EU services, Data Act switching provisions support exit-contract evaluation without guaranteeing a functionally equivalent replacement. [redacted]

3. Airport Operations Software | Intelligent Airport Platform | Veovo
   · The combination of airport information and operating functions grounds an integrated-platform scenario; suitability still depends on organizational authority and contracted interfaces. (veovo.com)

4.8. Go-to-Market Strategy

[redacted] Where that condition is unmet, defer the bid or establish a permitted participation arrangement rather than presenting a stronger product demonstration as a cure. Historical qualification conditions must be checked against the new solicitation, not generalized across banking.

[redacted] Where Qmatic's distributor framework governs, the reseller cannot bind the publisher; aligned commitments are therefore necessary. Buyers with sufficient implementation resources can compare publisher-led engagement, while partners should compete on enforceable local accountability rather than imply that appointment transfers every publisher obligation.

[redacted] Use a clearly defined core commitment with separately described implementation, support, renewal, and expansion obligations. This qualitative pricing approach improves scope comparability; it does not establish that the narrower option has better economics when essential services remain outside it.

The business sequence is to establish the operational sponsor and budget owner, confirm eligibility and required rights, agree the seller and responsibility allocation, and obtain acceptance before retiring an existing arrangement. [redacted] Broader rollout should follow an agreed operating need and delivery commitment, not precede them.

5. Market Insights

5.1. Consumer Insights & End-User Perspective

Software buyers and crowd participants occupy different commercial roles. The Port of Seattle's September 2021 virtual-queue memorandum joined Airport Operations and Technology Delivery sponsorship with a request for Commission authorization and recurring funding through the Aviation Operations budget. ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■

Support retirement can create a replacement trigger even when an application still works. ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ Continued operation avoids immediate migration but retains unsupported-software exposure; a recommended successor does not establish an effortless transition.

5.2. Consumer Experience Benchmarking

For Queue and Arrival Management Software, the benchmark is a complete service journey, not simply a shorter visible queue. Lambeth's August 2019 quotation request combined web booking, staff-assisted appointments, visitor calling and reporting with references and a demonstration. ■■ ■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■

For Crowd Monitoring and Analytics Software, observation coverage is a different benchmark. Crowd Connected describes analytics based on a venue's mobile-app users. ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■

5.3. Opportunity Mapping

Commercial priority should follow the clarity of the buyer's decision, purchasing authority, and obtainable delivery commitment rather than the breadth of a supplier's catalog. A named application is a candidate offering; it becomes an accessible opportunity only when the proposed bidder qualifies, the necessary rights are available, and the buyer can authorize the associated operating changes. ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■

■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ A bounded professional deliverable is the credible alternative when the sponsor needs an accountable assessment rather than continuing application use. Suppliers should qualify the design-change window and revision owner before pursuing the project; an already settled decision weakens the case for either additional entitlement or commissioned analysis.

Institutional service queues present a more specific modernization route where an installed version faces support retirement or an approved service journey needs changing. ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ A capable software partner therefore cannot be presumed to make an otherwise ineligible bidder acceptable.

[illegible] CVG's own account corroborates a Veovo application without qualifying every module. An airport lacking authority over connected resources should compare a defined measurement commitment with broader platform scope; expansion becomes more credible when the relevant system owners agree interfaces, operating responsibilities, and acceptance.

Libraries can address space allocation without assuming a need for comprehensive sensing. Lyon xx.xx's Affluences workflow separates reservations from attendance confirmation, and Affluences distinguishes platform access from counting hardware. [illegible]

Venue operators with fragmented staff handoffs can evaluate coordination separately from measurement. [illegible] A coordination application should not be procured as a substitute for missing crowd-observation coverage.

[illegible] Its consent-sensitive contractual uses also require specific agreement. The commercial trigger is a named engagement or planning decision that can use the represented information, not a general assumption that a heatmap establishes complete occupancy or improved sales.

5.9. Return on Investment & Cost-Benefit Analysis

For a planning sponsor, the economic benefit is the ability to change a consequential decision while change remains possible. Sources & Evidence

1. QtracVR Virtual Queuing System

   · Taxonomy evidence: The technology description distinguishes registration into a virtual physical-service queue from standing in line. Its historical decision date and version-specific decision matrix must not be interpreted as current blanket authorization, active deployment or a completed software purchase. (oit.va.gov)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The government technology record describes software allowing patients to register in virtual queues without standing in line, with staff processing requests across service areas. This directly distinguishes physical virtual queuing from measurement-only queue analytics. (oit.va.gov)

2. RFP for procurement of Queue Management Solution

   · Taxonomy evidence: The bank's procurement scope explicitly seeks Queue Management Software for managing branch crowds, including token issuance and expected waiting information. The procurement combines software with implementation and maintenance, so its full contract value cannot be treated as software revenue. Sources & Evidence

1. Crowd controls inside the venue
   - Taxonomy evidence: The control-point responsibilities include sharing crowd information, coordinating staff responses and coordinating external agencies. These support staff-facing crowd coordination as distinct from visitor messaging; they do not make general incident software wholly in scope. (hse.gov.uk)
   - Taxonomy evidence: A central control point is described as coordinating information and responses among crowd-management staff and external bodies. This supports a distinct staff-facing coordination requirement, not proof that all general incident software belongs in the market. (hse.gov.uk)
   - Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: The guidance separately identifies staff command structures and coordination of information and responses. This supports distinguishing staff-facing coordination from visitor-facing communication without including all general incident software. Sources & Evidence

1. Crowd controls inside the venue

· Taxonomy evidence: The guidance separately identifies information for visitors and staff command structures. Visitor-facing communication is therefore a distinct management requirement, although the guidance does not establish a purchased software entitlement. (hse.gov.uk)

· Taxonomy evidence: The guidance identifies information and directions to visitors as crowd-management responsibilities, independently establishing demand for visitor-facing crowd communication rather than staff coordination alone. (hse.gov.uk)

· Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Public information and visitor directions are identified separately from staff command arrangements. This supports the guidance allocation boundary, not a software-purchase mandate or numerical sales weight. (hse.gov.uk)

· Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Public information and visitor directions are identified separately from staff command arrangements. 2. Crowd Control | Omnivex

   · Taxonomy evidence: The supplier's inspected software catalog markets crowd-control communication through occupancy information, congestion-aware directions, wayfinding and emergency messages. This corroborates its own commercially offered guidance functionality, independently aligned with crowd-safety communication requirements; it does not make all digital signage in scope. Sources & Evidence

1. Passenger Flow Metrics Project - Commission Agenda Memorandum, April 26, 2022

   · Taxonomy evidence: The request identifies possible wireless technology, smartphone location services or roadway cameras, while requiring consolidated measurements. Alternative candidate sources and consolidation do not prove substantive implemented fusion. ([[meetings.portseattle.org]](https://meetings.portseattle.org/portmeetings/attachments/2022/2022_04_26_RM_8b.pdf))

   · Taxonomy evidence: The proposed scope gathers and consolidates flow measurements from new and existing systems. It supports multisource integration as a buyer requirement without establishing the eventual feeds or their algorithmic fusion. ([[meetings.portseattle.org]](https://meetings.portseattle.org/portmeetings/attachments/2022/2022_04_26_RM_8b.pdf))

   · Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: The 2022 proposal recommends consolidating new and existing information with a USD xx.xx ten-year recurring budget, versus more than USD xx.xx for extensive tracking. This constrains purchasing economics but does not prove implementation, paid fusion adoption or realized software revenue.

   · Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: The 2022 proposal recommends consolidating new and existing information with a USD xx.xx ten-year recurring budget, versus more than USD xx.xx for extensive tracking. Sources & Evidence

1. Crowd monitoring sensor types

   · Taxonomy evidence: Wi-Fi, Bluetooth and RFID sensing are explicitly identified separately from GPS and smartphone location sources. The retained transaction-versus-tracking RFID rule remains an analytical allocation convention.
   (cityflows-project.eu)

   · Taxonomy evidence: Wi-Fi, Bluetooth and RFID are explicitly identified as sensing families for crowd-monitoring research. Their identification does not establish paid deployments or global market shares.

2. Passenger Flow Metrics Project - Commission Agenda Memorandum, April 26, 2022

   · Taxonomy evidence: Existing airport wireless technology is explicitly contemplated as a passenger-flow information source.

3. Capturing engagement numbers - strand 1 report

   · Taxonomy evidence: Wi-Fi and radio-signal sensing are discussed as attendance-information sources but deprioritized for this research program because of deployment and accuracy concerns. The finding is not interpreted as absence of commercial crowd-density software using those sources.

1. Monitor the crowd

   · Taxonomy evidence: Thermal counting and people-counting sensors are named, but the page does not resolve whether a particular thermal implementation produces imagery. Ambiguous thermal products therefore require source-provenance evidence rather than automatic assignment. (hse.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: People-counting sensors and thermal counting are named monitoring inputs. This source does not establish whether a particular thermal implementation is imaging or non-imaging. (hse.gov.uk)

2. Crowd watch: DASA funded AI and LiDAR innovation helps enhance crowd safety

   · Taxonomy evidence: The April xx.xx 2024 government publication reports Network Rail's acquisition of LiDAR-based crowd-monitoring technology and describes tracking units, cameras and a software viewer. Sources & Evidence

1. Traffic Modelling Guidelines v4

   · Taxonomy evidence: The guidance treats spatial layouts and pedestrian demand as modeling inputs. Its local assessment requirements support the source-family rationale but do not prescribe the analytical precedence between scenario-only and observation-dependent workloads. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The guidance identifies spatial layouts and current or predicted pedestrian volumes as modeling inputs. This supports a design-and-demand input family; the response's scenario-only allocation precedence remains an analytical convention. (content.tfl.gov.uk)

   · Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Pedestrian guidance identifies layout, demand and proposed-facility assessment inputs, supporting the scenario/design source boundary rather than a sales weight.

Sources & Evidence

1. Monitor the crowd

   · Taxonomy evidence: The guidance recognizes staff observations and manual counters as information sources. This supports human-reported inputs but does not establish currently purchased software principally dependent on them. (hse.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: Hand counters, field-staff observations and social-media monitoring are recognized crowd-information sources. This establishes the information need, not current paid human-report-led software contracts. (hse.gov.uk)

Sources & Evidence

1. Planning for incidents and emergencies

   · Taxonomy evidence: The guidance distinguishes event organizers and fixed-premises venue management from emergency services. It supports different operating roles but does not establish their respective software entitlements or expenditure.
   (hse.gov.uk)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The guidance assigns responsibilities to event organizers and fixed-premises venue management and identifies their interfaces with emergency services. This supports an event-operator buyer role distinct from public emergency agencies.

11. Crowd Management Software Market, by Deployment Model

[redacted] Buyers comparing On-Premises and Hosted arrangements should establish who maintains the application, manages updates, supports interfaces and restores service. Local control is useful only when the buyer or its contractor can fulfill the retained responsibilities; externally managed delivery should be assessed through its actual service commitments.

Connectivity can change the preferred route. [redacted] These are conditional choices, not evidence that either model is generally superior.

Hybrid remains a distinct included arrangement, but an onsite sensor connected to an external application does not by itself establish substantive application execution in both environments. [redacted] Splitting responsibilities can preserve selected local functions, but adds a boundary whose ownership must be explicit.

12. Crowd Management Software Market, by License Term

[redacted] Oasys describes standalone and network licensing for MassMotion desktop software; those access arrangements do not, by themselves, identify the duration of rights. Buyers should obtain the governing order rather than classify a license from its installation or access label.

[redacted] Buyers seeking long-horizon access should require explicit provisions covering use after maintenance ends, retained project access and any separately licensed components. Indefinite use rights can preserve continuity while leaving upgrades and support as separate commitments.

Term Licenses require renewal and exit decisions to be aligned with the buyer's operating or project calendar. [redacted] Neither license category eliminates the need to verify the proposed contract's termination and dependency conditions.

2. Software Licenses | GSA

   · GSA's purchasing scope distinguishes indefinite-duration perpetual licenses, specified-period term licenses and software maintenance. It establishes a general duration framework, not a particular crowd-software entitlement.
   (gsa.gov)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The purchasing page updated September xx.xx 2026 retains both indefinite-duration and specified-period software licenses and separately describes maintenance products and basic functional support. This refresh supports the duration distinction and software-only boundary, not crowd-specific licensing shares.
   (gsa.gov)

   · Taxonomy evidence: The official software-purchasing classification distinguishes perpetual and term licenses and separately includes maintenance and basic support. This establishes a general software duration framework, not crowd-market adoption or shares.
   (gsa.gov)

   · Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Supports classifying indefinite application rights separately from the duration of maintenance obligations.

3. Oasys Software | Terms and Conditions

   · Oasys distinguishes support and maintenance included with subscriptions from maintenance arrangements for software held under perpetual licenses. This does not establish the rights in a proposed MassMotion order.

4. Oasys Licence Agreement (Installed on hardware versions)

   · Oasys's linked installed-software agreement permits use during an order-defined license term and includes renewal and termination provisions. It demonstrates expiring rights for installed software, not a customer's perpetual continuation right.

6. Passenger Flow Metrics Project - Commission Agenda Memorandum, April 26, 2022

   · Taxonomy evidence: Recurring software-license and maintenance charges are combined. Their recurrence does not establish whether underlying application-use rights are perpetual or expiring. (meetings.portseattle.org)

   · Taxonomy evidence: Recurring software license and maintenance fees are combined in the request. The underlying application-use expiry is not stated, so recurring expenditure alone cannot establish Term Licenses. Hardware distribution should not automatically be classified as resale of the crowd-software entitlement, and neither relationship establishes a customer's complete responsibility allocation.

A buyer with adequate implementation resources can evaluate a publisher-facing route without assuming that it includes local integration or on-site assistance. Where those services are necessary, the intermediary route is preferable only if the partner's mandate, delivery obligations and escalation arrangements are documented. ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■

1. OneGov

- Taxonomy evidence: Manufacturer engagement is described but can coexist with reseller purchasing. It therefore does not establish publisher-to-customer seller-of-record status for a crowd-software transaction. (gsa.gov)
- Taxonomy evidence: Direct manufacturer relationships are described, but can coexist with reseller transactions; the page does not by itself establish direct publisher-to-customer crowd-software sales. (gsa.gov)
- Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: OneGov combines direct manufacturer engagement with reseller purchasing access. This is a classification counterexample only; it does not establish crowd-software participation or a direct revenue weight.

Sources & Evidence

1. OneGov

· Taxonomy evidence: Value-added resellers remain an expressly described software-purchasing path. This supports the intermediary concept without establishing crowd-market participation or revenue allocation for a particular reseller. (gsa.gov)

· Taxonomy evidence: Value-added resellers are expressly recognized as a purchasing path for software agreements. (gsa.gov)

· Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Reseller access can coexist with manufacturer-negotiated commercial terms, supporting final seller-of-record classification rather than classification by upstream negotiation.

2. Invitation for Bid - Attleboro Public Schools IP Video Surveillance System
   - Taxonomy evidence: The specification assigns work to a successful integrator separately from the manufacturer. This supports intermediary-led procurement relevance, but does not establish an award, qualifying software resale or software-only consideration. (cityofattleboro.us)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The specification distinguishes the manufacturer from a successful integrator supplying the system. This supports an intermediary-led contracting path, while the qualifying crowd-software component and its consideration require separate attribution; no award is established here. (cityofattleboro.us)

14. Crowd Management Software Market, by Operating Environment

Indoor, Outdoor, and Indoor and Outdoor classify the physical coverage being purchased, independently of where the application is hosted. ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ Buyers should distinguish the spaces represented in a planning assignment from the coverage promised by a live-monitoring service; an indoor planning example does not establish operational monitoring capability.

Outdoor purchasing needs explicit coverage boundaries rather than an assumption that admission records describe the whole site. HSE guidance recognizes that outdoor event boundaries can be less well-defined and identifies weather and site suitability as relevant considerations. ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■

Indoor and Outdoor coverage can make integration ownership more important than a single product label. ■■■ ■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■ ■ ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■ ■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ ■■■ ■■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■ The proposal establishes a purchasing requirement, not completed deployment or one inseparable software entitlement.

2. Assess Crowd Safety Risks and Identify Hazards - HSE

· HSE recognizes less-defined outdoor event boundaries and identifies weather and site suitability as crowd-management considerations. Applying these distinctions to purchased software coverage is commercial interpretation. (hse.gov.uk)

· Taxonomy evidence: Crowd-risk guidance identifies venue and site characteristics as relevant to capacity and movement assessment, separately recognizing urban streets and open spaces. This supports a physical-coverage distinction independent of software hosting. (hse.gov.uk)

· Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: HSE recognizes outdoor spaces whose event boundaries are less well-defined. This supports a distinct physical-coverage category, not a software expenditure weight, price premium or forecast market share. 3. Passenger Flow Metrics Project - Port of Seattle Commission Agenda Memorandum, April 26, 2022
   - The April 2022 proposal spans roadways and terminal journeys, prefers consolidation of existing and new information sources, and acknowledges less detailed movement information than a broader alternative. It is an authorization request. (meetings.portseattle.org)
   - Taxonomy evidence: The airport buyer's authorization request combines passenger-flow measurement along roadways and through terminal/concourse areas within one proposed program. This supports the commercial relevance of coverage spanning exterior and interior spaces. 1. Assess crowd safety risks and identify hazards

· Taxonomy evidence: The guidance specifically addresses outdoor spaces with less-defined event boundaries and zone-based capacity assessment. Applying that demand distinction to software coverage is an analytical adaptation, not a published market segment estimate. (hse.gov.uk)

· Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: HSE recognizes outdoor spaces whose event boundaries are less well-defined. This supports a distinct physical-coverage category, not a software expenditure weight, price premium or forecast market share. North American institutional purchases can require operational and technology sponsorship rather than a passenger-facing sales proposition. 10. accesso Technology Group plc - Results for the six months ended 30 June 2026

- Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Virtual-queuing revenue was USD xx.xx in H1 2026 versus USD xx.xx in H1 2025. This supplies independent counterevidence to uniform royalty growth and supports retaining the inherited contract-loss adjustment; it does not verify the modeled full-year royalty amounts. (accesso.com)
- Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Virtual-queuing revenue was USD xx.xx in H1 2026 versus USD xx.xx in H1 2025. This supplies independent counterevidence to uniform royalty growth and supports retaining the inherited contract-loss adjustment; it does not verify the modeled full-year royalty amounts. (accesso.com)
- Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: First-half virtual-queuing revenue fell from USD xx.xx to USD xx.xx, constraining the inherited royalty forecast partly allocated to flow.
- Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Observed customer-contract-related royalty decline is counterevidence to automatic visitor-software expansion; it does not observe the future purpose mix.
- Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: The royalty decline supports forecast caution despite a broader commercial proposition, without proving the modeled commercial share.
- Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: First-half 2026 virtual-queuing revenue was USD xx.xx versus USD xx.xx in first-half 2025, with disclosed contract changes and seasonality. This supports a contraction mechanism, not independent verification of the modeled 2032 royalty amount.
- Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: Virtual-queuing revenue falls from USD xx.xx in H1 2025 to USD xx.xx in H1 2026 following customer contract changes. This independently supports the inherited royalty contraction as a forecast mix counterforce, not a measured sales-channel percentage.
- Evidence informing forecast-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: The disclosed royalty change affects the relative economic weight used in the complementary channel forecast. Accesso's separate ticket-distribution revenue is not treated as indirect crowd-software sales.

11. People Counting System Pricing - Nano AI + BoostBI | V-Count

- Evidence informing base-year allocation inputs; displayed values and growth are calculated: BoostBI analytics is published at USD xx.xx-xx.xx per sensor per month, separately from sensor hardware.
